NEWS NOTES

John Forsyth of Cardston was a Raymond visitor last Thursday for a few hours.

Spring wheat, planted March 26th is reported above ground at Milk River.

Art Jensen is driving a recently purchased 1940 Dodge Sedan. He made the deal through the Servicentre Garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oliver of Cardston spent Easter Sunday with relatives and friends in Raymond.

Mrs. Joy Isaacson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pieppgrass, is visiting from her home in Champion with friends and relatives here.

In line with more storage, Parish & Heimbecker are building another of the eight sided bins to the south of their elevator or proper. These bins hold about 22,000 bushels and are reported to be stronger and more economical of construction than other type of storage bins.

Battle Of Balkans Now On

The expected battle of the Balkans is now on. Nazi and Allied troops have come to grips, and according to Allied communique while Nazi troops have advanced into Yugoslavia and also Greece, the main lines of the Allied forces remain intact and Nazi thrusts against them are proving very costly. Evacuated cities in portions of besieged countries have been taken, but nothing of value was there for the conquerors after their mad dash to occupy them.

In Africa the Nazi advance still continues. We faintly remember another advance that led into the interior of this continent into the middle of sand deserts and then it bogged down, and it seems that our memory tells us there were 125,000 Axis prisoners fell into Allied hands after Wavell's men started their march. It is also unofficially reported that in Italian retreats, Allied forces captured enough medical supplies of one kind and another to last the Army of the Nile for a year. Could it be that Nazi forces are heading to a similar fate in their hurried march across Africa? Time will tell.

The British Mediterranean fleet still active annihilated a complete Axis convoy sinking a total of 20,000 tons of shipping in five ships, and three Italian destroyers. One ship was an ammunition ship and it sank following heavy blasts from within as the ammunition exploded. The Allied ship Mohawk of 1,870 tons was struck by a torpedo and sunk in the action which took place between Sicily and Tripoli. And besides this British warships have been pound on African coastal positions occupied by Nazi-Fascist troops, despite efforts of dive bombers to prevent this. It seems that the courage, individual action and trigger-quick thinking of Allied airmen and ship crews are just a little too fast for the Axis soldiers and sailors to keep up with. Every easy victory for the Axis seems to be a death trap later on.

NEWS NOTES

L. D. King and wife were in Calgary over the week-end and met Melba there and brought her home with them from the School of Agriculture in Olds. They report a nice trip, and Melba reports a most pleasant and profitable winter at Olds.

The Canadian Red Cross is contributing $20,000 to a new and enlarged canteen for sailors at Halifax. There is an urgent need for this canteen & recreation hall for the boys and it is being erected on land donated by the Naval command just out side of Halifax.

Mrs. S. B. Smith underwent a goitre operation at St. Michael's Hospital Tuesday morning and that evening was making good progress. She had a bad hour or two just as she was coming out of the ether because of the condition of her heart, but when that passed she seemed to make steady progress.

If you haven't had all the eggs you can eat this Easter, you should have done. Unable to dispose of them at the stores, they have been piling up in producers homes and have been selling at the fabulous price of 10c. per dozen. Some laws seem to be the brain waves of sufferers from insomnia so far as any benefits to anyone are concerned.

Recent Storms Add To Moisture

EASTER CHURCH SERVICES

Morning service was held in the Catholic church with Father, Duphanyl in charge and a good attendance present.

Easter sermons and stories, with singing, furnished the theme for services Sunday in all Raymond churches.

In the United Church morning and afternoon services were conducted with Easter as the theme, and both Raymond wards of the L.D.S. Church carried out the subject.

In the Sunday School in the 2nd Ward in the morning class and the following program carried out after the opening exercises:

Reading by Miss Vivian Scoville, Violin and piano numbers by the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rulon Dahl, Vocal duet by Misses Louise Allen and Hazel Redd, piano solo by Mrs. Emma Dahl, and three talks on the Resurrection by Miss Eva Palmer who told of the resurrection in Jerusalem, Carl Salmon who spoke on the visit of the resurrected Lord to the American continent, and Lynn Zemp who told of the visit of the Father and the Son in 1830 to the boy prophet Joseph Smith.

Speakers at the evening meeting were: R. H. Dahl of the Bishopric, ex-Bishop J. H. Walker, Elder, Earl Zemp, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Duncombe and their son Lawrence, who left today for Salt Lake City to enter the Missionary school, after which he will go to Eastern Canada for missionary work for the Church. Frank R. Taylor and Co. furnished two male quartette numbers of the program.

The regular class work was carried out in the 1st Ward Sunday morning, but the two and a half minute talks by Mrs. Godfrey Holmes and Ira McBride were both on the subject of Easter. In the evening meeting T. K. Roberts rendered a vocal solo, Elder Willis Taylor just returned from the Canadian mission reported his labors, and Conference reports of the recent Conference in Salt Lake City were given by Mrs. C. R. Wing, Stake Pres. T. Geo. Wood and Bishop J. O. Hicken of the 1st Ward.

CARDSTON MAPLE LEAFS PROVINCIAL CHAMPIONS

Congratulations to the Cardston Maple Leafs. In their two game series with the Edmonton Y'Amis on Friday and Saturday nights last, the Cheesman coached Leafs took both games to win the Alberta Intermediate title. The Cardston boys have been here on a number of occasions and have always played a fine game of ball and have been fair and good sports in their playing. Southern Alberta is certainly taking her share of championships in the sport world this spring.

Students and teachers enjoyed the Easter holidays at home, many leaving Raymond and many coming home here for their vacation.

Willis and Harlan Taylor, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Taylor, arrived home last Thursday evening, the former from his two year's mission in Eastern Canada and the latter from a trip east to accompany his brother from Toronto. They visited points of interest in Church history in the Eastern States, and at Detroit picked up a new Dodge Sedan for O. H. Snow and drove it home.

Two storms over the week-end a rain Friday, and snow storm late Saturday night and early Sunday morning tied up field work a little, but added welcome moisture to the soil and seed bed in preparation for the planting season.

Rain fell the greater part of the day Friday with about a quarter of an inch recorded in Lethbridge and we presume the same here. Saturday night a bout 10 p.m. rain set in, which turned to snow and for an hour or an hour and a half we had a blizzard that brought the snow down in chunks, and that is no fairy story. They didn't seem to be flakes as much as they seemed to be long ribbons of snow swirling and twisting on the wings of a stiff breeze. Travellers tell of real difficulty in negotiating the roads under such conditions as the bar pits were all that were visible and drivers had to steer between the pits and trust in the Lord.

The storm was going good just about the time the Lions party let out and while most of them were in town and didn't have to go far, they got a taste of the storm and those poor unfortunates who had to travel in to the country really felt the storm at its best. By about one o'clock it had subsided and the remainder of the night was quite and calm, and by noon on Sunday practically all the snow was gone although the roads were bad, especially dirt roads all that day. This storm added more welcome moisture to the topsoil of the fields.

NEWS NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Fansett and daughters were Lethbridge visitors Wednesday.

Property owners received a nice Easter gift Tuesday when Tax Notices were mailed out from the Town office. The amount is just about the same as last year.

The 2nd Ward Conjoint meeting a week ago was featured by the singing of the Magrath Male Chorus directed by J. Orson Bridge, and a fine talk by Mayor J. H. Bridge of Magrath.

Beet growers of Southern Alberta as a body have donated $6,000 to the War Services Fund drive, which represents a payment of 2c. per ton on last year's beet crop. The Canadian Sugar Factories too, are in the front line with a donation of $3,000 for the fund. These two payments will give the fund a real boost from Southern Alberta. Congratulations to both organizations for their fine help.

PLANTING TIME

Again it is planting time. Fields and gardens are being worked and good old Mother Earth is being made ready to receive the seedling of farm crops and vegetables, also of flowers, shrubs, trees and so on that will fill bins and canisters for the coming winter and add beauty to the landscape all the year. The heart and soul of man. Spring is a beautiful season. We shake off the doldrums of winter and go about our tasks with a lighter heart, with new determination and with a joy that each spring sees born again in the human family.

This year, what shall our planting program be? Our Dominion Government has asked for a reduction in wheat acreage, bonusing land taken out of wheat at production and either left in summerfallow or seeded to coarse grains. We are not questioning the policy of the officials in charge but we wonder what the results would be if the blockades were suddenly lifted and the millions of starving peoples in Europe were able to have access to our huge stores of wheat. They would melt away like mist before the rain. Honestly we don't believe the west ever has or ever will see the time when there is actually too much wheat in store. It can serve a multitude of purposes.

What about our gardens? How much shall we raise, and what kind of garden crops. For several years the L.D.S. Church has urged a year's supply of vegetables in the cellars every fall. This year the urge is more widespread and in England and Canada government officials are urging that every usable lot be planted to a good nourishing crop, and the crop taken care of when the time comes. With the available land in Raymond there should not be a family this winter in our town but what would have an abundance of bean peas, corn, potatoes, tomatoes, carrots and so on. All of these vegetables are easy to grow and easy to care for. There should not be a call of relief agents of the town or church for a dime's worth of vegetables in relief orders this coming winter if everyone would act now and get a garden in the making. There may be a few, who because of physical disability cannot tend a garden, but our bet is that these people will not be the ones who ask for vegetables on relief orders but it will be the army of people who are always too busy doing nothing to raise a garden, and some of these will not even start one.

We should all remember that we are at war. There are thousands less in Canada to plant and reap than were here last year. Our armies must be fed. What on, they need plenty of all the products of our gardens. If individually, we raise our own staple vegetables and put them up for our own use there will be that additional stock of merchantable food for our boys in uniform. Then too, if the sale by stores should be forbidden of these staple articles we will still have our own supply of health giving and nourishing vegetables to maintain our physical condition and prevent the start of epidemics or malnutrition in our population. There are many reasons why we should take it as a matter of pride to plant a good garden, and after we have planted it to tend it and see that it matures and the fruits thereof taken care of.

There is a strength too, that comes from close association with the soil. Every man and every woman who indulges in gardening or the raising of flowers is a better individual in every way through that association with mother nature. It builds into people that which is lacking in tenement and apartment dwellers and that which only open air, sunshine and a partnership with the soil can give. Let us all try it.

THE FUNCTIONS OF THE PRESS

Commencing next week it is our intention to feature an editorial each week for a period of nine weeks outlining the functions of the press in a democratic community and its relationship to various phases of community life. There is considerable

This lack of knowledge is almost entirely the fault of the press itself, because it has neglected the important duty of making its readers conversant with the fundamental principles involved in the publication of a community newspaper. The series seeks to make amends for the omissions of the past, and to present in simple language an explanation of the main relationships between the newspaper, its readers, its community, and its associations with organizations, business groups and institutions within the realm it seeks to serve.

The nine phases to be discussed are: The Freedom of the Press, The Press and Governments, The Press and the Churches, The Press and the Advertiser, The Press and Propaganda, The Functions of a Reporter, The Press and Local History and The Guarantee of Freedom. We sincerely hope that our readers will carefully study and digest the series, because we believe that it will give them a new understanding of their local

LOCATION AND SCREENING OF OUTBUILDINGS

All too common on the Canadian prairies is the scene of a human habitation composed of a cluster of buildings apparently placed at random, with little regard to plan. There seems to be no excuse for these foreign looking objects set apart as they are totally independent of the natural surroundings. Even in a town of some size, bare buildings without plants usually appear to be aliens.

The fact that outbuildings should always be subordinate objects is important. For instance, there seems little reason for the popular placement of the privy as the central figure in the backyard. Of all the types of outbuildings, perhaps this one is the least attractive, therefore there seems to be little object in making spectacle of it. Placing it near or adjoining another building does away with this objection and makes the plan more unified. The garage, chicken house and privy could be grouped together but for the sake of the housewife the coal-house (if required) should adjoin the house. The location of outbuildings should not be too far from the house. The modern tendency is to do away with these buildings in as much as they adjoin or are a part of the house. An all weather path should be provided so that it is possible to reach them at all times.

An attempt should be made to keep these buildings in good condition but just as important is tidiness and the use of plants where possible. It is true that under the eaves, where eave troughs are used, and on certain sides of buildings the soil is dry but on the other hand it is relatively easy to remedy this by using eave troughs to carry the water from the roof to these dry locations. By this modified irrigation system there is little reason why plants cannot be grown with water which might otherwise impair the foundation and have to be drained away and wasted. A very common place but often overlooked water conservation measure consists of thorough destruction of weeds. It is well to remember that every weed which grows, makes conditions less favourable for some nearby cultivated plant, particularly where water is the most limiting factor of plant growth.

Foundation plantings are not hard to establish when water is adequate. Vines such as virginia creeper and clematis which are woody perennials and hops which have perennial roots are very good to blend a building with its surroundings. In addition to this, trees and shrubs in suitable locations are beneficial. In some cases it is an advantage to screen an unsightly object. For this purpose a hedge is often useful or a lattice fence on which vines can be grown. It is seldom advisable to use a lattice without vines or shrubbery around the base. A rustic lattice requires inexpensive materials and is often more effective.

In general, outbuildings are not attractive objects but a great deal can be done to improve them. It is not enough to improve the house, for unless the outbuildings are screened or beautified the desired effect cannot be achieved.

While most of the season's supply of beet seed and fertilizer has been distributed through out the district, there has been a very limited acreage seeded up to last Friday when the storms started. It is still plenty early.

The Builder

An old man travelling a long highway
Came in the evening dark and gray
To a chasm deep and vast and wide
And swept with a swift and turbulent tide.

The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fears for him,
But he turned when he reached the other side,
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

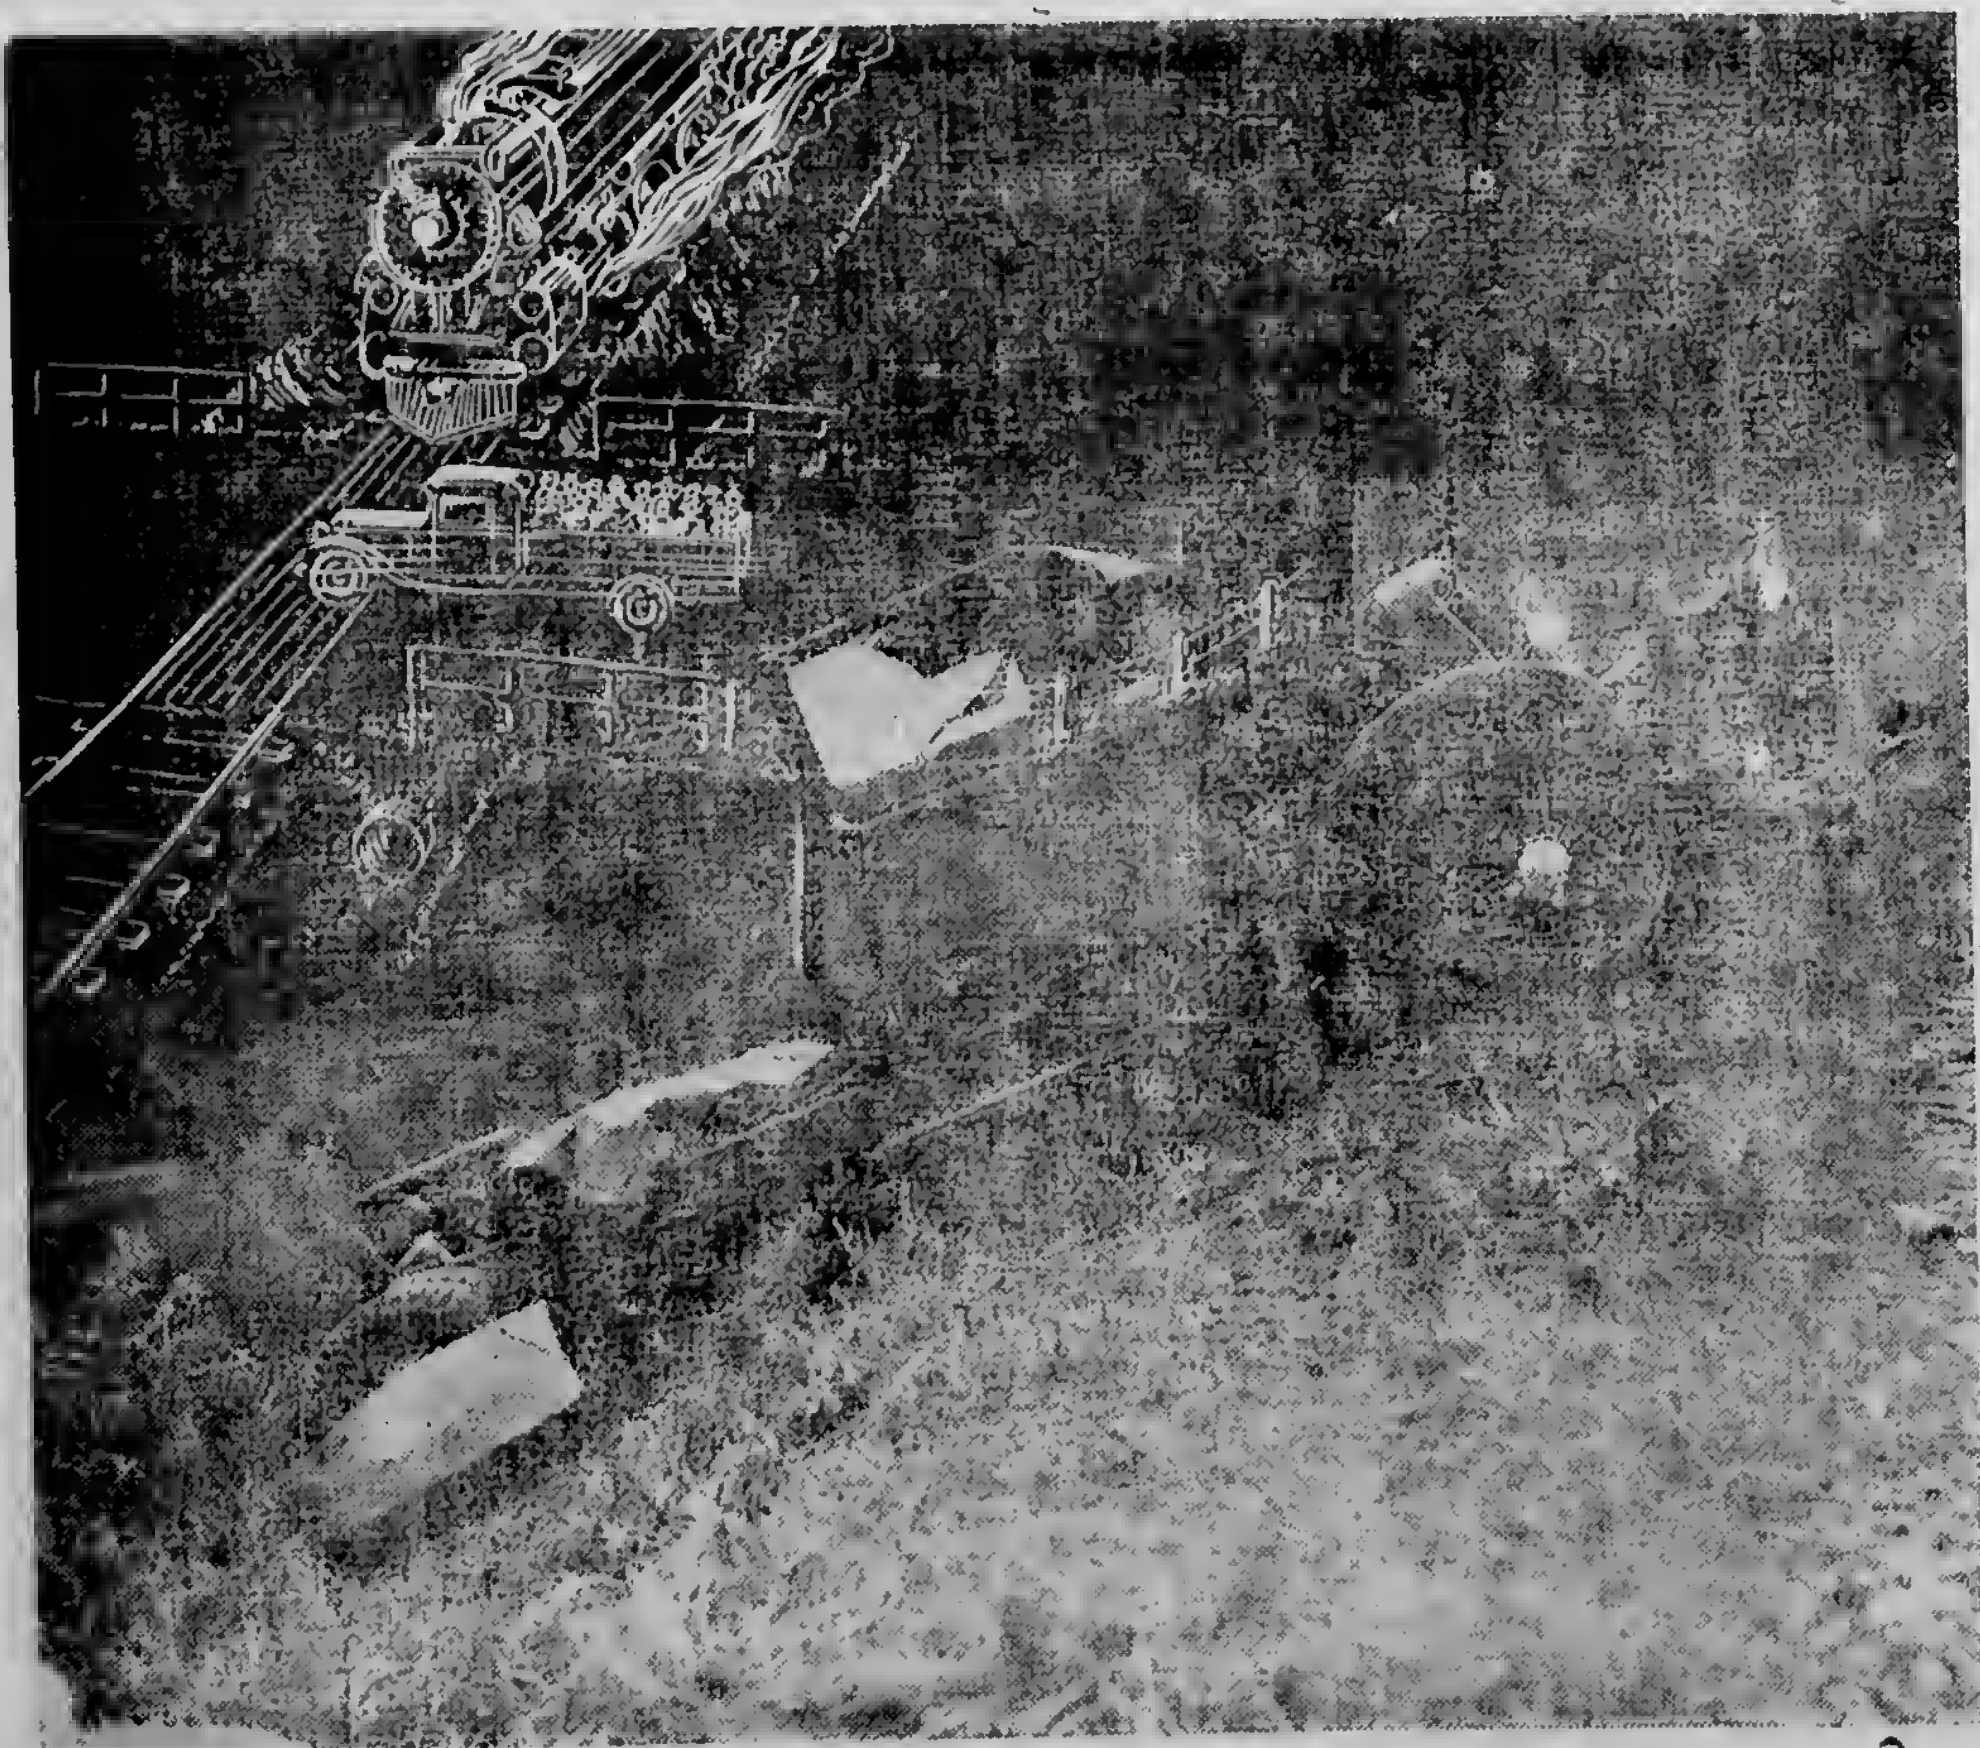

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting time with your building here,
Your journey will end at the close of day
And you never again will pass this way;

You have crossed the chasm deep and wide—
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"
But the builder lifted his old gray head,

"Far back on the path I have trod," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way;
And this sullen stream, which is nought to me,

To that fair-haired boy may a pitfall be;
He too, must cross in the twilight dim—
My friend, I am building this bridge for him."

When Death Won The Race

Carelessness, the urge to hurry, the craving to take a chance or ordinary disregard to elementary safety precautions, caused 346 railway crossing accidents in Canada in 1941. A total of 133 persons were killed and 485 injured in these accidents, one of the worst death tolls in Canada's history. In the above photograph, 3rd in The Recorder's series showing the perils of taking a chance with a speeding train a common accident is depicted. Many motorists, misjudging the speed of an approaching train, attempt to race it to the crossing, with dire results. Here a momentary pause to stop, look and listen would have saved a life.

BOY SCOUTS AID AT A TRAIN WRECK

When a train was wrecked near Blue River, B.C., and a number of soldiers and others injured, two Boy Scout passengers were promptly on the job rendering first aid. The boys, Scouts Jerry Asmussen and "Scotty" Buchanan of North Battleford, Sask., were themselves slightly injured, but this did not prevent them going at once to the aid of their fellow travelers.

Father: "Junior, your head is wet. You've been in swimming against my orders."

Junior: "No Daddy. I was just standing on the bank watching the other boys when that little Tompkins kid did a 'belly-buster' and splashed me."

Junior: "I had it in my hand, Daddy, fanning myself."

Father: "Umph! I guess I'll have to make a lawyer out of you."

TREES

I think that I shall never see,
A Poem as lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed,
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts his leafy arms to pray.
A tree that may in summer wear,
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a Tree. — Selected.
